Chicago Region SCCA REcognition Award Chris Gregor

Chicago Region is strong and vital because of its members. When a situation occurs that requires extra effort and caring we know inherently that we can rely on our membership. When one of those situations arose one of our super stars not only said "I am here" but was "here" for many months.

Chris took the initiative to help a member, Bob Stone, when Bob could no longer provide what was required. Bob's medical challenges required transportation and physical assistance. Chris provided that ongoing assistance.

Bob can no longer express his overwhelming thank you to Chris and that is where we come in. I ask our fellow Region members to join me in recognizing Chris for what he did and who he is.

In appreciation for his spirit of helpfulness and profound caring within the Chicago Region community I am pleased to present Chris Gregor with the Chicago Region's REcognition award.

Chicago Region Sports Car Club of America
2021 Track Days Person of the Year

George Laws

The Chicago Region SCCA Track Days program has grown into a vital part of the region's activities because of the hard work of a group of dedicated volunteers who are passionate about high-performance driving and driver development. Our Track Days Person of the Year for 2021 is one of the most skilled, committed, and forward-thinking of the group.

George has been instrumental in the implementation and continued success of our Track Days. His decades of experience as a driver, worker, and administrator have been critical to the safety and fun afforded by our events. He is a loyal worker that can, and will, take on every role at our events from tech inspection to chief steward.

He is supportive of our time trials program and has helped with its integration into our road race weekends.

George's respect and concern for volunteers and participants ensures that all drivers are safe, comfortable on track, enjoying themselves and advancing their skills. By example, as a driver and worker, he shows participants how to have fun with cars.

In appreciation of his outstanding service and dedication, Chicago Region SCCA is pleased to recognize George Laws as its 2021 Track Days Person of the Year.

The Chicago Region Sports Car Club of America
2021 Dave Morrell Worker of the Year

Roger Vilmur

At the age when most start to wind down our recipient was just getting started. Attending Spring training to find out what we were all about, becoming a corner worker, getting involved in Track Events, and election to the Board of Directors he quickly progressed from "finding out" to being an integral part of the success of Chicago Region and SCCA.

We often ask a great deal of our members and try to draw on their talents and background to achieve our goals. Some attempts are met with resistance some are monumental successes. Look no further for an example of a monumental success than that provided by Roger.

When the Chicago and Milwaukee Regions were faced with replacement of a major asset Roger did not hesitate to volunteer his expertise. Because of his dedication the process of identifying needs, reviewing system capabilities, sourcing correct equipment, and purchasing a new radio system for Road Racing was completed.

Chicago Region SCCA honors Roger Vilmur for a job well done.

Chicago Region Sports Car Club of America
2021 "Berdie" Martin Member of the Year Award

Sue Green

When you think of the "Berdie" Martin Member of the Year, you think of people who year after year performed great service to the Region. For over 35 years our recipient has served and represented our region well.

Volunteering at all levels of events from Driver's School to the June Sprints to the National Championship Runoffs, along with pro events along the way. She initially served our club taking care of those in need, as an Emergency Services volunteer. However, in recent years, this person is known for another specialty.

You don't get a second chance to make a first impression and that first impression is registration. For the last decade, our Member of the Year has been the Chief Registrar for Chicago Region's biggest event - the June Sprints.

Beginning months before the event, sorting out license and driver issues, addressing the large list of participants questions, and organizing the last-minute items. Registration is always ready to open as scheduled at the track, and our Member of the Year leads her formidable team with smiling faces, ready to make that great first impression for all, customers-drivers, volunteers, prep shops, sponsors, and special guests. Whether handling late registrations, working with Topeka on membership issues or soothing bruised egos she strives to ensure a successful event.

Chicago Region, SCCA is proud to announce 2021 "Berdie" Martin Member of the Year Sue Green.

Chicago Region, Sports Car Club of America
2021 Founders Award

Beau Martin

In his thirty-seven years of active involvement with Chicago Region and the Sports Car Club of America Beau's dedication and hard work to the Region and sport exemplify the standards for the Founders Award.

His efforts as principle of Elite Motorsports are well documented. Less documented are his tireless efforts includes serving on the Competition Committee, Nominating Committee, financial support of volunteers and competitors and always the first person to show the way that SCCA can be an integral part of a future in motorsport.

His endless hours of effort for the Region provide current and future members with a benchmark to measure their success.

Beau achieved the values that the Founders of Chicago Region set for members. The Chicago Region Board of Directors and prior recipients are very pleased with this selection.

2022 Learning Curve – 2 Day Autocross School
Organized by: SCCA - Chicago Region - Autocross

Sat, Apr 2 - Sun, Apr 3, 2022
Rt. 66 Raceway Joliet, IL

About this event The Learning Curve is a bit different than the average autocross event. The goal with this 2-Day Instructional Course is to get folks who are new to racing to be more comfortable with the process and nuances so they can be more focused on racing and having fun while at the race. An autocross can be a stressful day if you aren't prepared, and by the end of this weekend you will be ready for pretty much anything that could come your way on race day.

Learn how to race your car on a closed race course with personal instruction. Autocross or Solo racing is the sport of racing against the clock on a race course made of small orange traffic cones. The goal being to navigate the course in the shortest amount of time possible without knocking down any of the cones or deviating from the course which would be known as a DNF or did not finish. You race one at a time, this is not wheel to wheel racing. The best instructors in the area will give you one-on-one instruction in your car and get you up to speed! How to attack the day from the beginning to end. We will teach you the basics of the sport including how to prepare your car and yourself for the day and also how to work the course. What to expect the day of the event from registration through the trophy ceremony. No matter where you attend an Autocross event, you will be well prepared after having attended the Learning Curve.

Flagging & Communications

If you are a fan of road racing, and want to be closer to the action, Flagging & Communications (Corner Worker) is something you should try! As with many of the volunteer positions within SCCA, the training is free and will be provided by experienced F&C workers.

Corner workers are crucial to the safe operation of racing events - they help to protect racers by providing notice of any hazards that may lie ahead. With the use of a variety of flag colors, they communicate to the racers about changes to track conditions ahead of them or warning of faster cars that may be coming up behind them. With the varied speed differentials in multiple class races in sports car racing, this communication becomes even more vital.

This may be a White Flag to signify a slow moving vehicle (race or safety vehicle); Blue to signify that they should check their mirrors for faster vehicles that are approaching behind them; Black which tells them they are to report to pit lane, or Red which requires drivers to stop as soon as safely possible as there is a track condition ahead that warrants immediate attention by emergency crews.

And then there are Yellow Flags which have several meanings, depending on how the flag is being displayed. When stationary, it tells the driver of an incident ahead that is off the racing surface; if waving, the flag signifies the incident remains on the racing surface. Waving Yellow can also identify that an emergency crew is working at an incident. Then there are times where 2 Yellow flags are displayed which is for full course Yellow. This may be in conjunction with a safety vehicle leading the racers as they proceed around the course.

Corner workers also communicate with the control tower. This is done by radio communication, providing information including the corner identification, flag condition, and a description of what has taken place. This may be something that occurred and is now cleared or a race car(s) that may still be at the station. It may be a call to provide a racing vehicle condition (such as a mechanical issue), contact between vehicles, or racing surface changes. It provides the information in order for the control tower to make decisions for corner workers and other support personnel to begin additional track activities such as dispatching emergency workers to a scene or for tech personnel to review a racing vehicle for mechanical issues.

Corner workers need to be alert at all times as a racing incident can happen in split seconds. The workers safety and the safety of racers are an utmost importance. A corner worker may be needed to assist a driver in getting back on track or provide necessary feedback to control that emergency workers are needed. And since the racing continues no matter if the sun is shining or rain dampens the racing surface, workers need to be prepared for all weather conditions.

Although our primary racing activities are at SCCA events, we are also asked to perform these tasks for other Racing Sanctions such as Indy Car & IMSA. These sanctions have additional or modified requirements that the corner workers must follow.

Hopefully this provides an awareness of what F&C responsibilities are. If you have an interest in being close to the racing action, consider becoming a member of the Flagging & Communications team. If you have any questions or just want to learn more about this SCCA aspect contact Jeff Reglin, the Chicago Region F&C Regional Administrator. (reglinj55@gmail.com).
